

65

Intro

Verse 1

I hadn't checked your phone in quite a while
But when I did
There they were 65 messages in a pile
From a guy we both knew with a flirt and a smile
Each one betraying the day we walked down the aisle

PreChorus 1

All while you're pretending, pretending to care for me
All while I'm thinking you'll always be, be there for me

Chorus 1

65
In one hour
With every glance
You feed
The silent pull
And his growing power

You say
Nothing's wrong
But it feels wrong
'Cause babe
You're drowning
Where you don't belong

Verse 2

It hurts that he's a nobody
A real nothing
A real loser got absolutely nothin' on me
You held the sun but you let it fall into the sea

And no other woman would choose his lies over me

PreChorus 2

All while you're pretending, pretending to care for me
All while I'm thinking you'll always be, be there for me

Chorus 2

65

In one hour
With every glance
You feed
The silent pull
And his growing power

You say
Nothing's wrong
But it feels wrong
'Cause babe
You're drowning
Where you don't belong

Bridge

Shadows of happiness nothing was real
You were chasing a high spinning the wheel
You thought I'd stay blind that I'd never know
But I've seen the truth and I wanna let go
I raised good kids it's why I won't just leave
'Cause I won't let this scar our kids for life

Chorus 3

65

In one damn hour
With every glance
You feed
The silent pull
And his growing power

You say
Nothing's wrong
But it feels so wrong
'Cause babe
You're drowning
Where you don't belong
