

Calm Is Contagious

It's easy to be calm when you know someone's got your back,
And still easier if that entire team's back on track.
The Bears defense can be way more aggressive,
Since they know Justin Fields will always be impressive.

Soon coaches start to relax when he is in the game,
For they know in a moment the announcer will be calling his name.
Cornerbacks are distraught when Justin's starting to rumble,
But the fans know there's a healthy chance he will stay humble.

So then every player can stay calm which is quite contagious
And this team can be special making plays that are quite outrageous.
The Bears even have great assets and grit with all their defensive backs,
And such confidence leads to victory and victories make owners relax.

If owners and the fans are happy, doesn't mean they won't still want more,
Hopefully a Super Bowl win very soon, before two-thousand-twenty-four?