

Doctor

Everybody says, "you should see a doctor," but what good will that do?
Doctors don't really want to see you, until your fever is one-hundred-and-two.

They check your throat and then check your ears,
Even when the problem is in your rear.

Doctors wear white coats, so they don't seem so scary,
But when they put on those gloves, you better be wary!
Doctors try to put you at ease by saying, "I've seen it all before"
But they haven't seen mine, and I'm not about to let them see more.

But most Doctor's know more than most of us ever will,
So, we keep going back to them whenever we're ill.
And doctors are great at helping us all lose a little bit of weight.
Cause' our wallets are lighter when we leave, now isn't that great?
