

Words That Don't Make Sense

There are many words we use that simply make no sense,
I think whoever made up those words must be quite dense,
For example, the word "Butterfly." Where does the butter come from?
They look more like a flying flower, but maybe that's tough on the tongue?

Now, a dragon may fly, a horse might fly, but butter with wings?
Come on everybody, is that not the absolutely dumbest thing?
Be it a stick, a tub, or simply spread with jam or jelly,
Butter knows its place, not in the air, but packed into a deli.

If you think I'm getting a little bit too picky,
Just don't get me started on the things we call cookies.
I've been told a cookie is baked and never really cooked,
So why not call them Bakies, that answer is always overlooked!?!
